What are Not Counted Courses?

Tell Me

Courses in the Not Counted section may be there for a variety of reasons:

1. The course is too old. It has exceeded the 8 year time limit for doctoral programs, or the 6 year time limit for masters programs, or the 4 year time limit for certificate programs. These courses must be revalidated before they can be counted toward the degree.
2. The course was taken before being admitted to the program. If courses in this section have been approved to be counted, an academic petition for transfer of credit is needed.
   a. Courses taken as a post-bac.
   b. Courses taken for a certificate where the masters program allows such courses to be applied.
   c. Courses taken for a masters where the doctoral program allows such courses to be applied.
3. Courses that have exceeded the number of grades of C allowed. For example, if the program allows 2 grades of C to apply, the third grade of C will appear in the Not Counted section.

Courses will remain in this section until an academic petition has been processed.
