How do I allow my class to retry a poll as I am presenting?

If you desire to let your students retry a poll (allowing all students to redo a question), there is an option to do so.

This method gives you the chance to allow your students to pick a different answer on the second round than they did on the first, however, the second round's entries will override the first.

1. Login to www.polleverywhere.com
2. Start up your desired poll

3. Activate your poll

4. Allow students to answer
5. When you wish to repoll, click the Clear Poll Results button

Remember, the second round's entries will override the first

6. Students may now re-answer

Even if a student desires to keep the same answer as they input initially, they will still need to reenter it